Building a Strong Energy Community Together

The transition to sustainable energy requires local engagement and collaboration. Energy communities play a crucial role in this by bringing the neighborhood together around the generation and management of renewable energy. But how do you get started as a new energy community? What steps should you take in each phase of your formation and growth?

WATTWORKS is a practical, interactive tool that supports you in this process. These cards provide a range of reflective and strategic questions, specifically tailored to the different stages of your energy community. Whether you are still in the start-up phase or already have a group of enthusiasts, this tool helps you get started by:

- Thinking critically about key matters.
- Discovering and applying the right CIRCUS tools at the right moment.
- Engaging in dialogue with your team and laying strong foundations for a successful energy community

This tool is specifically designed for group use: around the meeting table, during workshops, or simply in an informal conversation. The cards can be used to provide guidance and stimulate growth. By asking the right questions at the right time, you increase your community's impact and build a sustainable future.

Whether you are a start-up energy community or a CIRCUS trainer offering support, WATTWORKS helps you reflect together, make decisions, and take action. Make this tool a permanent part of your journey and build a strong, supported, and successful energy community step by step.

Packing instructions – Keep WattWorks in order

To make sure the next group can get started smoothly, please follow these steps when putting the WattWorks cards back in the box:

Start of the deck

- Place the WattWorks introduction cards and the general manual on top of the stack.
- Then add this instruction card.

Phase 1 – Awareness (Red Cards)

- Begin with the “Me” cards, numbered 1 to 7, in order.
- Then add the “Neighbourhood” cards, numbered 8 to 11.
- Insert the Energy Profiling Manual here.
- Follow with card 12, linked to the tool.
- Complete the red set with the “We” cards, numbered 13 to 16.

Phase 2 – Exploring Renewable Energy Opportunities (Orange Cards)

- Start with the “Collectively” cards, numbered 1 to 5.
- Insert the GIS Tool Manual here.
- Then add card 6, which introduces the tool, followed by card 7.
- Next, place the “Experts” cards, 8 and 9.
- End this phase with the “Inspiration Trips” cards, 10 and 11.

Phase 3 – Collaboration (Green Cards)

- First, place the Business Tool Manual at the beginning of this phase.
- Then add the “Group” card 1.
- Continue with the “Key Group” cards, 2 and 3.
- Follow with the “Goals” cards, 4 to 8.
- Then the “Group Structure” cards, 9 to 12.
- Next, the “Partners” cards, 13 to 18.
- After that, add the “Conclusion” cards, 19 to 22.
- Follow with the “Long Term” cards, 23 to 29.
- Close this phase with the “Resources” cards, 30 to 34.

End of the deck

- Finish by placing the white cards:
- “THE END”
- “Boost for the Future”
- These should also be placed in chronological order.

Your Energy Community, Your Future!

The path to a successful energy community is a process of learning, collaborating, and growing step by step. With these WattWorks cards, you have a tool at your disposal to consciously make choices as a group, listen to everyone's voice, and collectively set a direction.

- Keep the conversation going:
  Use the questions to regularly reflect on where you stand and where you want to go.
- Make it a working tool:
  WattWorks is your conversation starter and thinking framework, so don't leave it on a shelf, but use it actively during meetings and collaborative sessions.
- Take action:
  Reflection is valuable, but real impact happens by taking concrete steps.

An energy community grows with and through the people who are part of it. By continuing to learn, decide, and act together, you are building a future where local, sustainable energy is accessible to everyone.

Good luck with your journey – and remember: the power of change lies in collaboration!
